THERE IS NO PLOUGH IN AUGUST
DEADLINE FOR ARTICLES ETC. FOR SEPTEMBER EDITION IS 20 AUGUST

From the Editor

Despite lockdown having to be extended, June saw a number of community and group events, and more are planned for July and August.

With this magazine, you should have a flier and two postcards for the Remembering COVID & Saying Thank you afternoon at Averham Church—we do hope you'll join in with this which is intended for all our villages and villagers.

Other events include a Teddy Bears' Picnic at Rectory Farm, a garden visit and a WI picnic. Full details of these are in this magazine and on the Plough website

<https://www.aksplough.co.uk>

I hope everyone is taking photos of their garden, or places around the village, to go into the Village scrapbook, which is also on the Plough website, together with details of all events.

The Plough Reading Circle articles seem to be proving popular, but DON'T FORGET to send your Book Reviews, Comments and Recommendations to editor.plough@hotmail.com or via the Kelham or Averham WhatsApp group.

FINALLY, a reminder that the Plough is not printed in August, so the next edition will be 1 September and the deadline for entries is 20 August.

Have a great summer.

Best wishes

Judith Mills, Editor

COVID 19 and the easing of Lockdown

As Lockdown eases, more things are happening—meeting family and friends, days-out, church services and social meetings—and we are coming into contact with a lot more people. But even if you've had two jabs, you can potentially still catch Covid though you probably won't feel ill. And more dangerously, while you won't have any symptoms you can PASS IT ON.

You can regularly check your own status by doing regular lateral flow tests, in your home. FREE packs can be collected from pharmacists or by ordering on-line <https://www.gov.uk/order-coronavirus-rapid-lateral-flow-tests>.

A test will give you peace of mind that not only are you free from infection but you're also reducing the risk of infecting others. Please seriously consider taking these simple tests regularly.

Family Nature Hunt in God's Own Acre—The Results

Thanks to everyone who participated in the nature hunt in Averham churchyard, a wide variety of birds, insects, plants and trees were identified and this information will be recorded on a national data base.

The competition was won by Maisie Vaughan and the runners up were Lavender Nickson and Harry & Charlotte Barbary, they have all received nature books as prizes for their entries. We hope to repeat the competition next year so keep looking out for the wildlife.

Many thanks to Tracey Carlisle and Hilary Snell for organising the event.

Keep in Touch via WhatsApp

Teddy Bears' Picnic

Summer has arrived! Shall we celebrate?

Rectory Farm would like to invite all AKS residents and friends for a Teddy Bears' Picnic from midday to 5pm, on Saturday 31st July.

Let's enjoy a get together and enjoy an afternoon of fun and catchups - Bring your own food and drink (and a cup, more later) and of course you'll also want your deckchairs and picnic blankets.

The wonderful AKS WI will be on duty, as always, providing cake from 2pm until 4pm (unless everything has gone before then) ... and you'll need that cup for the ladies to fill with lots of tea to wash it all down.

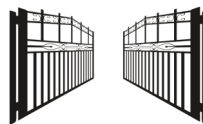

The airstrip will be open for flying friends to bring their aircraft and we've even invited the ice cream van :)

We will of course need to abide by any remaining Covid 19 restrictions – but we all need to see each other, talk about our plans and celebrate all of those birthdays, wedding anniversaries and other special occasions that we missed last year. Bring your teddy bears, wear your fancy dress, do whatever makes you happy and we look forward to seeing you all.

All you need to do is to start planning your day!

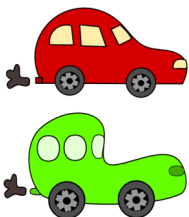

ACCESS

Access via the Robin Hood Theatre, Church Lane, Averham, NG23 5RB and across the marked route in the Glebe Field to Rectory Farm.

Please Note: For safety reasons, there will be no access via Rectory Farm drive off the A617, nor by the hand gate on the Trent riverbank.

PARKING FOR PICNIC

The Robin Hood Theatre have kindly offered use of their car park for those able to park there and walk the short distance to the farm, and Latham Farms have offered to make space in the Glebe Field to those who are less able and need to park a bit nearer.

ASK Garden Club Relaunch Event Evening held on Tuesday 15th June

Janet's Emeny's hard preparation work garnered a good turnout for this special occasion. A number of long-standing members attended and there were several new visitors interested in joining the group. In total 23 visitors came along to enjoy the relaunch evening. It was good to meet everyone (new and old) in person after the horrible preceding year. There were a couple of cancellations, which meant we stayed just within the government guidelines, as well!

The evening started with a chat over nibbles, washed down with prosecco or squash, and members caught up with news and introduced themselves and explained the Club to the newcomers.

Janet had laid out the garden club 'diary' on a display table for visitors to browse, and Heather had three pretty plant arrangements alongside. There were also photographs of past members and events to remember arranged on a long banner line. Attendees also admired the lovely gardens Janet and Steve have developed over their time at Willow Tree Lodge.

This was followed by the 'Name that Twig' competition, set by Nigel, with healthy looking samples. This was won by Barbara by a clear margin - well done Barbara!

Strawberries and cream were served by Hilda and Diana and glasses of Prosecco were served by Sommelier Steve and expertly topped up by Roger, Diana's husband throughout the evening.

The raffle was next, with two more bottles of prosecco and 3 outdoor plants as prizes, donated by Nigel and John.

Unfortunately, Nigel our Club Chairperson, couldn't be present in person, which was very sad, but Janet read a speech he had prepared for the March 2020 AGM (which was cancelled due to Covid) describing 2019's activities, with updates for 2020, including the sad passing of Maureen Justice last year. This was also a good formal introduction to the Club for the prospective new members.

The proceedings closed with a round of applause for Janet (many thanks also to her team of helpers!), and the guests dispersed with a beautiful sunset sky overhead.

Janet sends her personal thanks to everyone who came along to support or show interest the ASK Garden Club.

If you could not attend the relaunch event but would like to join the garden club please contact Janet on 0775 111 7820 or email

Village garden and nature photo scrapbook

Last year The Plough and ASK Garden Club ran a photo competition.

Last month, it was suggested we began a photo scrapbook and asked you to take a sequence of photos of your gardens during June, July and August to show how they change over the summer. The photos could be of your whole garden or single plant. Maybe you're creating a new flower bed or helping your children grow radishes. It doesn't matter—the idea is to show how your garden grows.

We've now decided to widen the scrapbook to photos around the village that include nature in some way. Nigel Britton has kicked this off and a couple of his photos follow. These, and others, are now on The Plough website page—They are much better in colour

It would be lovely to have a contribution from everyone, so please

START SNAPPING!

Foxgloves and wild flowers growing at the side of the ditch across the road from Nigel's home.

Not exactly nature, but a great juxtaposition of organic and industrial forms against a stormy sky, close to our villages.

THE PLOUGH READING CIRCLE

Book News for July

A Song for Dark Times* by Ian Rankin: Book Review from Jenny Quickmire

I have just finished reading the latest John Rebus adventure by Ian Rankin A Song for Dark Times. Written in Rankin's usual lively style, I felt the plot was a little thin for a John Rebus story. All the usual protagonists were there but the plot seemed a little diluted and focused heavily on the dysfunctional relationship between Rebus and his daughter Samantha. However, it was still very readable and I could recommend it to any Rebus fans. Just a bit different from the normal Rebus. Sadly I can't pass it onto the church book club as it is on my Kindle!

Edward the Elder and the Making of England* by Harriet Harvey Wood: Book Review from Judith Mills

Most of us will know about Alfred the Great and how he burnt the cakes while day-dreaming; and many of us will know that that day-dream led him to unite the Anglo-Saxon Kingdoms of Wessex (where he was King) and Mercia, ruled by a Ealdorman at that time. Together they managed to hold back the invading Viking hords. Far less well-known is Alfred's son, Edward the Elder who not only consolidated what his father had started but managed, through agreements, alliances, creating great defences and running successful military campaigns managed push back the invaders. He also established the idea of a single kingdom of England. In many ways, his contribution to the foundation of this country as we know it is far more important than his famous father's. This is, to a great extent, due to an historical accident that means that far less documentary evidence has survived for Edward than for Alfred.

This history book—and it is a history book, not a novel—uses what evidence that has survived to uncover Edward's story in a very non-technical, easy to read and absorbing way.

This area—along the Trent—was an important boundary between the Viking Kingdom of the north and the Anglo-Saxon kingdom of the south. We even have tangible evidence of that at Averham which boasts one of the—if not the—oldest church foundation in the County. If you've ever wanted to find out about the history of our region, then this book is a very good place to start.

If you have a Kindle Unlimited account, it is FREE to read on your Kindle or Kindle eReader. The paperback version costs £8.99.

AND A BLAST FROM THE PAST

For those of you who like Agatha Christie, have you come across They Came to Baghdad? I found my very yellowed paperback copy (bought 1971, cost 35p, first published 1951) on my bookshelf the other day and decided to revisit it.

It doesn't include either of the usual protagonists (Poirot or Marple) but is set in Iraq at the time when it was under British control. Christie lived there with her archaeologist husband so her descriptions of streets, houses and people are first-hand and very evocative. The book is aged and probably not very 'PC' now but I very much enjoyed the atmosphere and an intriguing story. It's worth going back, sometimes.

REMINDER: Newark Book Festival 8—11 July

The programme is now published and includes a wide range of events each day for both adults and children from story telling and theatre work to a creative writing workshop; there's a poetry trail and literary walks, interviews with best selling authors David Baldacci, Nick Quantrill, Sophie Hannah and Mark Billingham and many others, not to mention afternoon tea and a whole range of different events everyday. See website for full details

<https://www.newarkbookfestival.org.uk/programme-2>

And of course, on Saturday and Sunday, there will be book stalls in the Market Square—a treat for both bibliophiles and casual readers alike.

ASK ABOUT ADIOS BUT NOT GOODBYE! To Lorraine and Paul Bousfield

Many readers will know Paul and Lorraine Bousfield of Hopwass Close Averham very well, and those that do will have sadness in their hearts because they are moving on to pastures new. We wish them well in their new home and happiness in all they do. For those who perhaps don't know them so well here is a little potted history of their time lived in Averham:

In 2006 Paul called a meeting at Manners Sutton School. He was acting as AKS Parish Plan Co-ordinator and the meeting was to identify local needs and issues in the community of our village's. More than 60 people attended the meeting and out of this was born several community groups which included:

A.S.K About

Residents had indicated that they would like more community activities and gatherings so ASK About was formed to help keep the community spirit alive. Paul and Lorraine have certainly achieved this and were at the helm of the group. Along with other volunteers they were the main organisers of lots of village events, the first of which was a Music and Mingle evening held at The Robin Hood Theatre in 2006. It was a very successful event and was followed by Cream tea, Skittle evenings, quizzes and supper nights, huge village summer fetes, afternoon crafting sessions and many more.

One of their main events has been Christmas Carols sung in the grounds of Manners Sutton School since 2008 every Christmas Eve. Lorraine and Paul provided mince pies and mulled wine to over 70 villagers and it has been one of the most popular and well supported events every year since then.

All of this would not have happened without Paul and Lorraine!

We will miss their caring, pro-active and fun loving personalities and want to thank them deeply for all they have done for our community over the years, not just as ASK About event organisers but as friends and villagers whom Averham, Staythorpe and Kelham will never forget.

ASK About will live on but it really is going to be a hard act to follow with a little chunk of its heart missing!

If you have not had the honour of knowing Paul and Lorraine or attending one of their events, well just “ASK About” and you are sure to find someone who will have great memories of their events.

A BIG THANK YOU AND BEST WISHES FROM ALL YOUR FRIENDS IN

A.S.K. and especially the ASK About Team.

WI News for July 2021

We have continued to meet via Zoom and this month's speaker, Penny Latham from the NatWest Bank, shared some very useful tips on how to avoid on-line fraud and scams. Penny, who lives and works in Gloucestershire, is the community liaison officer for the bank in her area, shared some of her personal experiences. She stressed that anyone can be affected not just through on-line activity. Lots of us have had 'funny' phone calls asking to contact HMRC or asking for payment for a missed delivery etc. Her advice is think before you press any link tabs and avoid giving any personal information, even to survey sites, as this can be accessed by hard core criminals who are very smart and devious. Another golden rule to avoid scams by phone is not to answer if you don't recognise the number. If the call is important the caller will use other ways to make contact. i.e. by letter, email or text. But be aware and do not click links on unfamiliar texts purporting to come, say, from your bank; no bank will try to contact you in this way. Never give your bank details in any form to anyone unless you can verify the contact. It all felt like a minefield, but Penny posted a useful list of help sites which is on the village WhatsApp for your info. On a lighter note, we managed to walk 135.2 'WI miles' during May as part of the WI Notts County Fed initiative to get us out and about again. A small group of us have really enjoyed our Wednesday trot along the towpaths and have decided to continue with a local monthly walk. If anyone would like to join in just post it on the village WhatsApp and I can forward the details.

July will see us actually having a live get together by the Fishermen's Hut on July 13th starting at 1pm. We are bringing our own picnic lunch and will be enjoying each other's company and a quiz. Just hope the weather doesn't let us down!!

Rev'd Georgie's Message to all in Averham, Kelham and Staythorpe

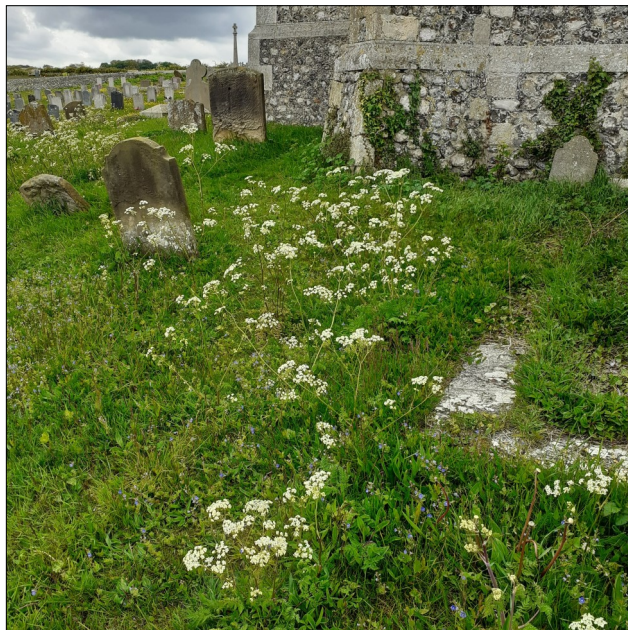

I am writing this article very early because I will be away on the deadline day. The weather is glorious so summer clothes out at last. The garden is growing slowly and it has to be said, it's a bit patchy.

It set me thinking about growth. I remember aunts and uncles when I was younger, seeing me and saying "my haven't you grown!". Well I was a child what else would happen! I wouldn't like to hear that as an adult.

Growth describes things that are getting bigger. There are at least 80 synonyms describing growth. The opposite of growth is shrinking or failing to thrive.

Parts of my garden has failed to thrive and other areas are growing well.

Our church yards have been growing. We have joined the Count on Nature initiative and have looked into what's in our Gods Acre.

There are many wild flowers, insects, bugs and beetles in the churchyards. Each has an individual look. We are working towards rewilding areas of the different churchyards and how we can use these wonderful spaces. Seeking to grow the churches both outside and inside. Churches have an individual feel or atmosphere. You have probably sensed that in your local churches as well as those you have probably visited when on holiday. We are looking to sow the seeds of growth for our churches. We would love to hear from you about ideas you have, or have gathered from other churches to enable growth. During this pandemic we have heard lots about keeping this local, this can apply to our faith and churches too.

Many things have been happening lately that have made me wonder about my personal growth. As an adult it is very easy to stop growing and developing. It probably takes more effort because we are further away from education, but there are many useful things on the internet. Locally there are different groups we can join.

The church has a group called Emmaus . We are all on our own journeys just as the disciples were as they walked on the road to Emmaus and Jesus joined them. We are at the moment meeting via Zoom as we seek to grow together in our faith.

How do I make sure I keep advancing as an individual and in my role as priest. I can read books attend seminars and courses. I need to look around me for news ways of doing things, but I realise it is also important to consolidate the things I know.

What do we need to grow? The desire perhaps to change, encouragement from those around us and sometimes a goal. Deciding to acquire new knowledge. Everything in nature has been growing apace, somethings quickly while others take time. Radishes for instance grow so quickly they are great to grow with children. Other things I have planted like Oak and Horse Chestnut trees are going to take much longer and I won't see them in maturity.

Many people through lockdown learnt something new. I don't think I did, but it has made me realise I need to review those interests I have done little about. The time is now to begin. You or I don't have to wait we can begin to grow.

Summer is here with longer days; possible holidays; good times to contemplate and decide how or where you want or need to grow.

Maybe walking in green pasture beside quiet streams you will find the time to listen to the quiet voice of God guiding your feet and your thoughts. What ever happens enjoy the summer.

Rev.d Georgie Hadley

Kelham and Averham Church News

Great excitement for our churches as they are finally opening up for their fullest meaning. Services of Holy Communion were held in both Churches in June (Kelham on 20th and Averham on 27th June). As we gradually move back to some sort of normality it is hoped that we will be having a regular service on the 3rd Sunday of the month at Kelham and 4th Sunday of the month at Averham (see list on page XX). Services start at 9.30 am for those wishing to join in with this special event but will also be by ZOOM—contact Rev'd Georgie for a link.

Assuming the regular cleaners are still able to do their bit there are still one or two gaps in the rota for Averham, namely May June July August. If anyone feels able to help out please let Jenny Q or Hilary Snell know. It only involves about 1 hour per month for the regular service and a few flowers if possible.

Another special moment awaits on July 14th when we will be not only opening the church for a pop-in session but a free cuppa and cake will also be on offer as well as a warm welcome. And there will be a similar coffee-and-cake meeting on 11th August at Kelham (see p.16 for invitation).

Averham church will continue to be open on Tuesday, Thursday afternoons from 2-4pm and on Saturdays* for a quiet place to be or look around our lovely church which has served our community for over a millennium through thick and thin. Hopefully we can go forwards together in different ways to keep St Michaels alive and thriving!!

The Nature Hunt was enjoyed by several families and many thanks to Tracey C. for sorting this out.

Hope to see you at the July tea party!
